

Please do something about what is being allowed on primetime television. I have three children and I cannot sit down with them in the evening to watch anything but the Disney channel and sometimes not even that. I'm tired of hearing profanity and seeing nudity on regular local channels. I do not appreciate homosexuality being displayed in EVERY sitcom. For that matter, sex, no matter what kind is over done. The extreme graphic violence and death scenes on some of the crime shows is not necessary. I can't believe that with all the cable access channels that controversial issues and adult issues cannot be limited to those channels or even come on much later in the evening. The reality show epidemic has got to stop. Where do we go from here. We are desensitizing this generation of young adults to violence and promiscuity and the consequences of them. The president preaches from the white house about abstinence yet we broadcast in almost every show that sleeping around is acceptable and fun. Why don't you have a reality show about Aids or sexually transmitted diseases, or is that too REAL? I am saddened and disgusted by what I see. Our family and many of our friends are simply turning the T.V.'s and the radios off. Please, please, do something about it!
